STATIONERS'
HALL

With a history dating back to the 16th century, tradition is at the heart of Stationers' Hall. Our haven in the City offers a hidden urban garden and magnificent interiors, a perfect setting for couples seeking somewhere truly special to start their journey and share their life together.

Imposing yet intimate, historic, elegant, and surprisingly flexible, Stationers' Hall offers a seamless blend of welcoming warmth and striking grandeur. The thrilling backdrop of one of the world's greatest cities offers unrivalled opportunities for unique photographs to treasure forever. Around every corner is a reminder of London's rich and fascinating history.

This beautiful room is ideal for smaller, more intimate weddings up to 120 guests. This room is wonderfully bright, richly carpeted, and with Rococo ornamentation in gold adorning the walls. It is dominated by the 18th century carved mantelpiece which is a feature that will really impress your guests. Particularly popular for summer ceremonies guests can make their way directly into the Garden for celebratory Champagne and photographs.

An impressive room steeped in history serves as an atmospheric backdrop for a grand entrance. Gleaming oak floors, carved oak panelling from the 1600s, and stained-glass windows give the room a striking presence. The minstrels' gallery overlooking the Hall below can be used for musicians or even a choir, the acoustics are among the best in London. Following a ceremony in the Hall, guests are invited up to the Court Room for a drinks reception whilst the Hall is re-arranged for dining.

Located below the canopy of a spectacular London Plane tree, the garden is perfect for your drinks' reception and those all-important photos. Rich in seasonal plants and flowers, it offers welcome shelter and shade come rain or shine. We can decorate the garden to your specifications, too, to help create that perfect intimate atmosphere.

A civil license is held by Stationers' Hall and enables the Court Room and the Main Hall to be used for civil ceremonies. These impressive rooms convey history, tradition, and gravitas to the proceedings on your special day. You are welcome to enhance your ceremony with music, poetry and readings of your choice as long as they are not religious.

Civil ceremonies may be carried out any time, day or night, seven days a week. If you wish to have only your ceremony at Stationers' Hall, this can begin any time before midday. We are pleased to cater for all types of ceremonies from Indian, including the fire ceremony, Jewish and African to a simple humanist ceremony or blessing.

The Hall can seat 150 on round tables or up to 205 on a formal top table with sprigs. If your numbers are smaller, you are afforded greater flexibility of table layout and dancing location. With our dedicated wedding specialist, talented team of chefs, experienced catering staff and a welcoming reception, all you need to do is relax and know you're in the best possible hands.

We will be here for you every step of the way to listen, guide and inspire.

All weddings enjoy exclusive use of the Hall and Garden and we guarantee that you will have complete privacy on the day. Your hire fee includes ample time for setting up of the venue, limited parking in our courtyard, on-site support from the Hall staff and a fully manned cloakroom.

Every room exemplifies opulence, character and grandeur. As a truly private and flexible venue we allow candles, music and dancing until midnight. Confetti is permitted, however we encourage the use of biodegradable or fresh petals. Let your imagination run wild and create the day you truly want and deserve.

Stationers' Hall is proud to be working with a resident caterer offering a variety of enticing dishes, and together we will manage your day. Our wealth of experience will ensure that all your needs are looked after, enabling a memorable day.

If you have specific requirements for your catering needs, we do offer the flexibility for you to choose from our approved list of caterers, including Asian, African and kosher options.
